"umpire," the Tramps were enabled to pull out a victory yesterday afternoon at National Park. Brown's decision in the seventh inning, whereby Blake took first base on balls, was rank. 'Arry should have been called out on strikes.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Weyhing and Powell, and the latter had all the best of it-from Brownand, of course, the Clevelands won.

One peculiar feature was the freak batting record made by the Indians. In the first linning Burkett got in a two-bagger, O'Conner hit for two sacks, and Tebeau for three in the second, a triple by Criger and a double by Wallace were made in the third inning-a total of five hits, for twelve bases, netting only two runs. In the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings Weyhing did not allow the Tramps a hit, and in the seventh the first single of the game for the visitors was made by Heidrick. Of the nine hits made off Weybing three were triples, three doubles, and

Manager Irwin made another shift in the positions of the players. Casey was sent to third, where he gave a superb exhibition; Smith went to shortfield and covered that position satisfactorily, accepting all chances offered in faultless style. There were some fine fielding features in the eighth inning, when by the exerfor a double play which was neatly made, with the assistance of Rietz and Smith. In the previous inning Tebeau made a great running catch of Rietz's fly back of first base. Casey made a sensational stop of Wellage's houself of his wits be created an opportunity of Wallace's bounder and then threw will be a memorable one indeed. It is policy to make it such. As the deeds of a good man live after him, so shall the offerings of this store serve to memorize its name.

Think of the greatest bargain you ever got in Clothing (men's or boys') and then try to realize that bigger bargains are offered you here today.

There is no questioning the fact that our words occupy a very high niche in the public mind. What we print you can believe.

The tension of your purse-strings will be very light indeed today, provided, of course, you buy here.

It would be hard to depict too strongly the unmatched cheapness of our Clothing offerings.

A few dollars buy a superior quality Suit, A few dollars buy a superior quality Overcoat.

We cannot urge too greatly the chances of the values.

Come expecting more than your dollars ever bought before. No matter how great your expectations, we dare say they will be realized here now, on this last day.
